Lectures in conjunction with gallery exhibits provide an opportunity for students, faculty, design professionals, and the general public to learn about diverse approaches to design. Exhibits are mounted in the BAC’s first floor McCormick Gallery, whose glass walls front Boston’s Newbury Street. Twenty-five thousand people walk past this gallery each week, according to the Back Bay Chamber of Commerce. Additional exhibits are continually mounted in the BAC’s Stankowicz Gallery, located in public space on the fourth floor of the BAC’s main building.
