Dear Students,

I hope this spring break will be a time for resting, reflecting, and refreshing yourselves with your family while following the Coronavirus guidelines as directed from local, state and federal governments.

During these changing times, it is important for our BAC community to remain strong together. Therefore, I would like to keep in touch with each of you through this weekly note as well as through a series of regular, Zoom-based virtual town hall meetings we are calling “Apiaries.” I see these virtual town hall gatherings as a way to reinforce our support for each other.

For those of you moving from in-person to online courses, we are working to help you gear up for what is proving to be a shared educational experience for colleges and universities throughout the country and around the world.

As a pioneer in distance learning for design, we are uniquely positioned to offer our students continued excellence in education. Please let us know if there is anything we can do to assist your smooth transition to the BAC online experience.

The health, well-being, and safety of all members of the BAC community are of the utmost importance. If you have questions, please direct them to emergencymanagement@the-bac.edu or visit our COVID-19 UPDATE page. I also recommend following Twitter @TheBACBoston where you can find up-to-date and relevant information.

Wishing you a safe and healthy spring break!
